Well done, we're all proud of you!

After school sports clubs start again next week. There are still a few places available on some of them if your child is interested in attending. Please book and pay on ParentMail. If you are having difficulty accessing the site then do contact the School Office for help

If your child is ill or unable to attend school for some reason, please telephone the school that morning and let us know why. Where absence is sickness related schools may require medical certification, particularly where the absence lasts a few days.

Support from school

Please do let us know if there is a difficulty with your child's attendance and you need our support. If your child starts missing school, there may be a problem we are not aware of. We want every child to have great attendance so that they have every opportunity to be the best they can be.

Low or irregular attendance

If your child's attendance is low or irregular, we will write to you. We may also want to meet with you to agree a plan with you to improve your child's attendance. If you don't follow the plan and things don't improve, the school will take further action.

Around school this week

In science Dorset Downs learned about transportation of water in plants. The children did an experiment with celery to observe water being absorbed and travelling through the Xylem.

In RE they started a new topic about How people of faith mark the milestones of life. The metaphor of life as a journey was introduced and they made board games of the ups and downs milestones of our lives.

Congratulations to Logan who was the Dolce lucky tray winner this half term and who will receive an Amazon gift voucher. Keep ordering your school dinners to be in with a chance next time.

Please could we remind parents/carers to order meals in advance from app.schoolgrid.co.uk. Please contact school if you are having difficulty accessing the site.
